Drug paraphernalia a booming business

By DON GREEN
Staff Writer

From cottage-industry beginnings about 10 years ago, drug paraphernalia has grown into big business today with gross annual sales estimated at over $1 billion.

Those involved in the business say both marijuana and the devices sold for its use are here to stay.

Drug-related devices have received attention recently in Upland, where the city council is expected to approve final adoption tonight of an ordinance restricting sale and display of paraphernalia at businesses frequented by minors.

Upland's ordinance declares sale and display of narcotic paraphernalia a public nuisance in any business where persons under 18 not accompanied by a parent or legal guardian are admitted.

Continued sales of the devices in Upland would be allowed in businesses where minors are admitted only if the displays are in a separate room or enclosure identified by a posted sign.

What are drug paraphernalia? Loosely defined, drug paraphernalia can be anything from plastic Baggies used to store marijuana to elaborate gold accessories for preparing and ingesting cocaine.

But the most commonly sold devices falling under the term are used to smoke marijuana: roach clips, pipes like those used for tobacco, water pipes or "bongs," rollers and cigarette papers.

Evidence suggests that more smokers rolling their own these days are filling their papers with pot rather than Bull Durham.

Sid Crown — managing editor of Paraphernalia Magazine, a Los Angeles-based trade journal for the industry — said the first head shops specializing in the sale of drug devices sprang up in the Haight-Ashbury section of San Francisco and the East Village of New York City.

"The industry as we know it today is about seven years old," he said, adding that only in the last five years has the paraphernalia business become "sophisticated" with large companies and national distribution.

Crown and others estimated the annual gross sales of paraphernalia at $1 billion to $1.5 billion.

He noted the number of marijuana smokers in the United States been estimated at anywhere from 20 million to 70 million.

Crown said the National Fashion and Boutique Show in New York City draws some 200 exhibitors three times a year to display the latest in paraphernalia.

The Paraphernalia Trade Association was founded in 1977 and maintains an emergency defense fund.

Paraphernalia Magazine is 18 months old and circulates to 17,500 subscribers, including those in eight foreign countries, in the retail end of the business, Crown said.

Crown and others said the industry concentrates on devices for what they term the "recreational drugs": marijuana, hashish (refined marijuana) and to some extent cocaine.

Crown called the paraphernalia "impulse items." Those involved in the industry readily concede that the devices they sell are not essential for the use of marijuana.

As the paraphernalia industry has grown, Crown added, it has branched out into boutiques, motorcycle shops, liquor stores, dairies, record stores and almost "any other retail outlet."

"Head shops are becoming anachronisms."

Complaints over the display and sale of paraphernalia at two record stores — The Warehouse, 360 W. Foothill Blvd., and Atlantis Records and Gifts, 110 E. Ninth St. — led the Upland City Council to pass its ordinance.

John and Mary Smith (not their real names) own a paraphernalia manufacturing and distributing business in the Pomona Valley that supplies Atlantis Records and Gifts.

Despite the growth of the industry, the fact that the couple requested anonymity for themselves and their small firm reflects that paraphernalia is still in the fringe area of accepted commerce.

While the Smiths oppose the Upland ordinance, they said they do not expect it to hurt their sales. Smith said the ordinance "boils down to a question of rights of the individual."

The Smiths, who have two children, said they do not see their involvement in the paraphernalia trade as advocating the use of drugs, pointing out the drug use preceded the organized manufacturing of the devices.

Smith called the devices "big people's toys," and the couple said devices are often bought for collections or as decorative items.

As with other businesses, Christmas brings a hectic pace to work at the Smiths' firm.

Among the items they pointed out were water pipes that double as candleholders and beer mugs, a roach clip that looks like a small motorcycle and a variety of decorative mirrors used in cutting cocaine.

Smith said the couple started by manufacturing incense in a garage and that gross annual sales are now about $200,000. They employ eight workers, including Mrs. Smith's father, whom she described as "very straight."

If ordinances like Upland's become widespread, Smith said they could "force a hardship" on stores that have limited space for the separate rooms or enclosures mandated.

Santa Claus brings happiness to elderly

"One of the most moving experiences I've ever had," was how Bob Bell, past president of the Kiwanis Club of Upland-Foothill, described his portrayal of Santa Claus this year for seniors at Bella Vista, Shea's, Villa and Upland Convalescent homes Wednesday. Seniors were only too happy to welcome the group at Upland Convalescent. At right, a member of the De Anza Jr. High School Chorus chats briefly with one of the residents. Sponsored by the Kiwanis in their annual event, band and glee club members gave a musical performance in the activity room followed by caroling in the hallways. (Staff photo by Dan Carroll)

Upland ok's restrictions

The Upland City Council gave final approval Monday night to an ordinance restricting the sale and display of drug paraphernalia at businesses open to minors.

Upland became only the second city in California to adopt such an ordinance. A similar ordinance went into effect in Lakewood late last month.

The ordinance declares sale and display of narcotic paraphernalia a public nuisance in any business where persons under 18 not accompanied by a parent or legal guardian are admitted.

Sales of such devices — including marijuana pipes, water pipes, roach clips and other marijuana accessories — would be permitted where minors are admitted only if the displays are in a separate room or enclosure identified by a posted sign.

The ordinance goes into effect in 30 days, or Jan. 17.

Jan Verdries — a manager of Atlantis Records and Gifts, one of the targets of the new ordinance — and his attorney, Daniel Fagan, made brief statements opposing the ordinance.

(The attorney was incorrectly identified in Monday's edition of The Daily Report as Mark Fagan.)

Verdries has indicated he will take legal action to test the ordinance's validity. A Los Angeles attorney representing a firm with national distribution of the devices has also said he would challenge Upland's ordinance.

Verdries said that contrary to a previous statement at a council meeting, he takes pains to advertise that paraphernalia is sold at the store, rather than just records.

He added that he does not believe the ordinance will serve its intended purpose: curbing drug use by minors.

Fagan suggested the city allow stores to set their own policies forbidding sales of the devices to minors instead of requiring enclosed displays.

$3.2 million bowling center

By DON GREEN
Staff Writer

The Upland City Council approved plans Monday night for a 40-lane bowling center with a cocktail lounge and 11 small shops, but not before hearing objections from nearby residents and tightening conditions for the $3.2 million project.

A conditional-use permit was granted for the proposal on 5.4 acres near the southeast corner of Foothill Boulevard and Campus Avenue.

Dr. Kenneth Colerick, a dentist with practices in Chino and Pomona; David Tedder, an Ontario businessman, and Greg Baderdeen, an Ontario resident and former touring professional bowler, are the principal partners in the project.

Baderdeen said plans are for the bowling center, the first phase of the project, to open in September 1979.

Residents living south of the site repeated objections they expressed before the Upland Planning Commission in October and November and during an informal session with the developers Nov. 8.

Fifteen residents opposed to the bowling alley attended the council meeting and their representatives pointed out concerns over crime, traffic and noise they believe the center may create.

The council used the conditional-use permit to spell out hours of operation for the bowling alley, security provisions, entertainment allowed and dance floor area. Maximum hours of operation will be 8 a.m.-1 a.m. daily.

In addition to surveillance cameras mounted in three corners of the site and monitored by the desk cashier, the council stipulated that a security guard be present 24 hours a day.

Upland resident sues Caltrans over Foothill Freeway indecision

An Upland resident whose land is bisected by the proposed route of the Foothill Freeway filed suit this week against the state, contending indecision over the freeway's extension has greatly reduced the value of his property.

Nelson Gray named the state Department of Transportation (Caltrans) as the defendant in his inverse-condemnation suit filed Tuesday at West Valley Superior Court in Ontario.

The suit estimates the value of Gray's land in the freeway right-of-way at $250,000 and says damage to his remaining property, because the state allegedly has made it unusable, is $350,000.

Gray is seeking damages for inverse condemnation in an amount to be determined by the court, along with the cost of his suit and other relief the court "may deem just and proper."

The long-time resident of Upland owns 20 acres at the southwest corner of Euclid Avenue and 20th Street. The suit states operation of his citrus groves no longer has "significant value."

Gray filed suit against the city of Upland in November of 1977 after the planning commission and city council denied his application for a tentative tract map in 1976.

He sought the map in hopes of selling his property for the development of single-family homes on half-acre lots.

Gray's attorney, Major Langer of Long Beach, said Thursday the suit brought against Caltrans will not affect the similar inverse-condemnation suit filed last year against Upland.

He said the two suits could be joined in the future, but he termed this consolidation unlikely.

The suit against Caltrans notes Gray has continued to pay property taxes — $7,000 in 1977 — while waiting for a state decision on the fate of the Foothill Freeway.

The California Transportation Commission is expected to consider the Foothill Freeway at hearings in San Bernardino Jan. 25 and 26.

One subject for the commission will be whether to begin a full-scale review — recommended by Transportation Director Adriana Gianturco — that could lead to the route's removal from the state freeway system.

Langer said he delayed pressing legal action against Upland and filing suit against Caltrans while the state Supreme Court considered a similar inverse-condemnation suit involving a freeway route, since abandoned, in Sacramento County.

That decision was released in October.

Upland City Attorney Donald Maroney said the "Jones decision" seems to have direct bearing on Gray's suit against Caltrans for two reasons: the Supreme Court ruled the state can be sued for tying up property use (inverse condemnation) and the plaintiff may receive damages for the period the property is in limbo.

Ron Beck, an attorney in the same firm as Langer, agreed with Maroney's analysis, adding that in both suits against Caltrans the state is accused of unreasonable delay.

Gray's suit against Caltrans refers to repeated efforts to find out from state officials the dimensions of property that would be taken for the freeway and the date acquisition could be expected.

"The department would not commit itself one way or another as to whether the proposed Route 30 state freeway would be built, and if so, whether it could be constructed across (the) plaintiff's land," the suit states.

Upland ok's mutual aid agreement

The Upland City Council has authorized the city fire department to join in a new mutual aid pact with the fire departments serving Ontario, Montclair and Rancho Cucamonga.

A key principle of the new agreement, scheduled to be carried out sometime early next year, is that firefighters from the nearest fire station will respond to fires, even those outside their city limits.

Councilman Frank Hoover Nov. 20 said fire chiefs from Upland, Ontario and Montclair fire departments and the Foothill Fire District serving Rancho Cucamonga are coordinating guidelines for the new agreement so one department will not be providing an imbalance of service to another.

In addition to cutting response time, the agreement is also aimed at augmenting manpower without extra cost.

Make it a safe Christmas

Holiday season increases threat of fire via trees, gift wrappings

By DONALD J. NEWMAN
Staff Writer

"We're going to have fires this year again...related to the season," lamented William Anderson, Ontario fire safety control officer, after listing numerous causes of holiday fires which sometimes result in death.

People have fire hazards in their homes at Christmas that they do not have the other 11 months of the year, said the fire department official, citing Christmas gift wrappings, overloaded circuits, substandard electrical decorations and flammable fir trees as major sources of fires.

Families are going to increase the number of fire hazards in their homes and become more careless about observing fire safety rules, he concluded.

Alexander and fire inspector Kenneth Woodward offered a few suggestions which they said could save lives and certainly a lot of property if families will just take the time to be careful.

"Under no circumstances should candles be used on a tree," declared Woodward, adding that extreme caution should be observed when candles are in use elsewhere in the home. Young children should be carefully watched while candles are burning, he said.

If a party is planned or people are drinking alcoholic beverages, "candles probably should be avoided altogether," interjected Alexander.

And families should not neglect the equally hazardous conditions which can result from the improper and unsafe use of electrical decorations, according to Alexander.

"They're (residents) going to use older light cords, older extension cords. They're going to save a dollar or two but with very serious consequences," he said, cautioning that citizens should examine electrical decorations carefully before using them.

Frayed cords, exposed wires and malfunctioning fixtures can easily short out and start a fire, according to fire officials who think it is worth the extra few dollars to protect a family's safety.

People should be careful not to overload the house wiring with electrical decorations, they added.

And without thinking about what they are doing, "a lot of people will take an aluminum tree and string electrical lights on them," said Alexander.

"They're not designed for electrical lights, they're very conductive," he added, saying that they should be spotlighted.

Before any electrical decorations are purchased the buyer should make sure that the item carries the Underwriter Laboratory seal which means the fixture has been tested for minimum safety standards, Woodward said.

But, he continued, many items, especially imported ones, can have a counterfeit seal because it is illegal to sell any electrical appliance that has not been tested. The only way to ensure that an item has been thoroughly inspected is to buy domestic products, he explained.

And while many residents may be careful about using electrical decorations, several less obvious fire hazards are overlooked, continued the fire officials.

Christmas trees should be properly maintained so they do not dry out and they should never be placed near any source of heat. A dry Christmas tree burns easily and generates intense heat, they said.

Package wrappings should be disposed of immediately, but not in the fireplace where they can start a flash fire. They should be placed in a metal container and put out with the trash.

And there is a second danger attendant to burning Christmas wrappings in a fireplace.

"Chances are 99 percent were going to have some roof fires," said Alexander, adding that burning the colorful paper in fireplaces is "a very, very bad practice." Burning embers scatter easily, they said.

Alexander encouraged anyone with questions about fire safety during Christmas to call the fire department and ask questions or ask a fire inspector to visit them in their home.

"If they're that concerned, we'll do it," he said.

A hand-decorated Christmas tree and toys have been presented to the pediatrics wing of Pomona Valley Community Hospital by the Pomona Valley Mothers of Twins Club. The twins decorated the tree with handmade ornaments during their annual Christmas party last week. On hand to help Margo Quay, back right, special events chairman, present the tree and gifts to Edith Southwick, left, director of pediatric activities, were Matt and Stan Quay, 6, of Ontario and Stephanie and Trish Hammitt, 4, of Claremont. The presents for the hospitalized children were from youngsters in the twins' club. (Staff photo by H. Lorren Au Jr.)

Chaffey College offers crown polishing class

A four-week coronal polishing course will be offered by Chaffey College beginning Jan. 2. The course runs three hours per session, one session per week, at 7 p.m.

There is a $35.00 fee for the course which is approved by the Board of Dental Examiners for 12 continuing education points in category I.

For further information contact Erna Noble, 987-1737, extension 481 or 482.

Air fair scheduled at Cable

The Pomona Valley Air Fair will take place Jan. 6 and 7 at Cable Airport, Upland from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. both days.

The Pomona Valley Pilots Association sponsors this event each year to introduce the public to the accomplishments of general aviation and the pleasures of flying. Many types of modern and antique aircraft will be on display.

Visitors will be offered introductory plane rides and hot air balloon rides. Food and refreshments will be available. For further information phone Jack Wagner at 213-447-6667.

Trip to Phoenix

Montclair Seniors are planning a trip to Phoenix in March, and plans for the five-day excursion are now being made. The trip will include an overnight stay in Sedona, Ariz., and a stop in Lake Havasu on the way home. Further information is available by calling 626-8571, extension 239.

Dairies urged to fight for future

By BOB NAGEY
Staff Writer

The West End's dairy industry, already beset by the flight of those who could not resist large profits for their lands, has been urged to stay here and fight for its destiny.

The dairymen were told their "hour of decision" extends over the next four months but if they wait that long their decision may come too late.

State Sen. Ruben Ayala said legislation is about to be introduced in Sacramento that would take away local control over agricultural zoning and place it in the hands of the state Legislature.

And Bob Rigney, director of environmental improvements for San Bernardino County, said the county will hold hearings in February and March on the agricultural elements of the West End.

"If you are interested in the outcome of those hearings, you'd better follow them very carefully," he told the dairymen at a special meeting sponsored by the Chino Valley Chamber of Commerce and attended by city and county officials.

"We need some direction from you people on which way your industry wants to go."

But his warning as well as the admonishments of the Chino City Council, the Chino Valley Chamber

6,224 jobs

Dairies' impact reported

The Chino Valley dairy industry provides 6,224 jobs and represents a capital investment of $397 million. These figures are included in a report on the economic impact of the Chino dairy industry released by Frank Coony, director of the county's economic development department.

According to the report, there are 281 dairies and 125,800 cows on 10,064 acres of dairyland in the West End. The industry's projected sales for 1978 are $215 million.

In addition, there are 97 dairies in Riverside County with a total of 64,000 cows.

The 190,000 cows produce an estimated 1,100 tons of manure daily, which could be mixed with treated sludge to produce methane gas fuel pellets, according to the report.

of Commerce, and other county officials went unanswered at a mass meeting for the dairy industry.

The dialogue the chamber had sought turned out to be one sided; only two of the 70 dairymen who attended the meeting at the Community Building even asked questions. Apparently the dairymen had come to listen.

Much of what they were told they already knew:

— That a lot of agricultural land already has been turned into residential and industrial subdivisions at up to $40,000 an acre.

— That there is a lot of pressure to further curtail the present land preserved for dairies.

— And that the closest land suited for agriculture beyond the West End is 50 miles away.

What they apparently didn't know was how important they are to the community and how badly the community leaders want them to stay here.

Both the chamber and the city offered them professional help to decide how to accomplish that. They suggested four alternatives:

— To incorporate and form their own city.

— To annex to Chino.

— To annex to Ontario.

— To remain as a separate zone of influence for agriculture, protected by the Local Agency Formation Commission.

In any case, Dave Huckaby, president of the chamber, told them that the first thing the industry needs is a master plan of action.

"Plans need to be developed to allow those who want to sell their land to do so, but not at the expense of those dairies that wish to remain," he declared. "Consideration should be given to a plan that is compatible. We believe that a master plan is essential."

Huckaby said the dairy industry is "the foundation of our whole economy as well as the basis for our standard of living. It is therefore with a selfish interest that we are trying to maintain the dairy industry in the Chino Valley."

He offered the chamber as a moderator for future meetings.

To a large extent his position was reflected by the statement of the Chino City Council, read by Councilman Fred Aguilar.

"Chino has historically been interested in preserving agriculture in the Chino Valley," he maintained. "We recognize the economic value of the industry to our community."

But, he said, the city has had to assume a "politically neutral position" as to what choice the dairymen make to maintain credibility.

"However, we are not neutral as to the destiny of agriculture, particularly the dairy industry," Aguilar pointed out. "We want to see it preserved in this valley. How this goal is accomplished is up to you."

The councilman said if the dairymen decide they want to be part of Chino, "we will provide the appropriate services and protection."

District may postpone new class requirements

By GLENN ANDERSON
Staff Writer

Because of financial uncertainty, Chaffey Joint Union High School District is considering a one-year postponement of adding two more required courses for graduation.

C. Robert Erickson, assistant superintendent in charge of instruction, said the aim of postponement would be to avoid establishing new courses until it is known whether Proposition 13 will force cutbacks.

Also under consideration is a move to put an increase in the number of semester hours required for graduation in effect starting with the present freshman class instead of the present sophomore class.

District trustees are slated to consider both possibilities at their Dec. 18 meeting.

The new courses now scheduled to be required starting with the present freshman class are one additional semester five days a week and one in science life skills.

Two semesters five days a week in science are already required.

There are no current graduation requirements in life skills, which include self awareness and social relationships, career exploration, consumer skills and personal economic skills.

Erickson said postponement of addition of the two requirements is recommended by the district curriculum steering committee made up of administrators and teachers.

119 nominated for society

Miss Mary Pollock, assistant principal for educational services at Alta Loma High School, has announced that 119 students have been nominated for induction into The Society of Distinguished American High School Students. Students nominated are seniors, juniors and sophomores attending ALHS.

Seniors are Stephanie Anderson, Deanna Boyette, Londa Bock, Janice Brabec, Liz Burlingame, Mike Castrovinci, Charles D'Errico, Lance Downs, Francine DuVal, Dave Edisill, Brent Ekstrand, Alice Hall, Norene Heath, Barbi Karish, Beth Kovacs.

Additional seniors are Karen Laurin, John Leonard, Colette Leu, Pam Marshall, Laura Medders, Dee Anne Mora, Sandy Muraska, Diana Musser, Debbie Nelson, Joe Nicassio, Catherine Novak, Janet Ogden, Denise Perkins, Mark Peters, Lorie Pillitter.

Gene Santilli, Andy Scandra, Janet Schmit, Darryl Scroggins, David Sewasky, David Smith, Kelly Smothers, Anna Sorenson, Carol Spencer, Laura Stevens, Edward Stewart, Susan Trapp, Donna Valcore, Lori Vanderet, and Sherri Willborn complete the list of seniors.

Juniors nominated are

Student registration

SSR slated for January at Alta Loma High School

Student self registration (SSR) will take place at Alta Loma High School on Jan. 9, 10, 11. SSR will take place in Activities Room 200 just north of the tennis courts on the ALHS campus.

Students should arrive about 30 minutes before scheduled time for registration. Packets will be issued to students at the windows of the snack bar prior to their proceeding to the activities room.

Shortly after Christmas vacation, students will receive registration materials and master schedules in their fourth period classes. This will enable them to plan their semester programs prior to registration day.

If a student is unable to attend registration on the proper day, a person over 18 years of age may register for him.

All freshmen and sophomores, with the exception of those students designated by the athletic staff as athletes, will begin school fourth period and continue through 10th period. Juniors and seniors, plus freshmen and sophomore athletes, will start school first period.

Schedule for registration is as follows:

Felony court cases adjudicated

Numerous cases involving felony charges were judged recently in West Valley Superior Court. Names, addresses, charges and dispositions are as reported by the district attorney's office.

Conviction charges may in some instances be affected by terms of a plea agreement between defendant and prosecutor. In cases where the sentence prescribed is a term in the county jail, the original felony charge reverts to a misdemeanor.

The cases and dispositions include —Mark Stephen Byrd, 22, Ontario. Charged with transporting, selling or furnishing marijuana and possession of marijuana. Plead guilty to possession of marijuana. Pronouncement of judgment withheld by Judge Richard Garner, placed on three years probation and ordered to serve 30 days in county jail.

—Johnny Garcia, age unknown, in custody. Charged with escape or attempt to escape from state prison by use of force or violence. Plead guilty to that charge. Sentenced by Judge Garner to 16 months in state prison. Consecutive.

—Deborah Maria Viggiano, 24, Ontario. Charged with forgery. Plead guilty to that charge. Pronouncement of judgment withheld by Judge Garner, placed on two years probation and ordered to serve 90 days in county jail.

—Miguel Gomez, 21, will be returned to Mexico. Charged with crimes against children. Plead guilty to that charge. Three years state prison sentence suspended by Judge Garner, pronouncement of judgment withheld, placed on two years summary probation and ordered to serve 365 days in county jail.

Economist says Prop. 13 won't save $7 billion

By RITA BUSBY
Staff Writer

A California professor of economics has called it "nonsense" that $7 billion will be saved through the effects of Proposition 13.

Dr. Gordon Douglass of Pomona College, speaking recently at a Cal Poly campus forum, also called it "naïve" to think the short-term influence of the proposition won't be drastic.

And he predicts that the long-term effects of the tax-limiting initiative will eventually be termed an "historic event" by historians 30 to 40 years from now who will write about its influence on the growth of California and how that related to the rest of the country.

Douglass said the short-term effects of the initiative, which cut approximately $7 billion of property tax money from the coffers of city and school district budgets throughout the state, will be to limit and roll back the size of local government at all levels.

Even in its first stages, according to Douglass, the implication is to "roll back all taxes,"—local, state and federal.

But Douglass said the supposed $7 billion in savings is a myth because approximately $2 billion of that tax money will be siphoned off by the federal government because it will no longer be a "recordable deduction" on the federal income tax.

The recordable deduction refers to the deduction given property owners on federal tax forms for property taxes paid.

According to Douglass, another $2.5 billion will be lost by local and state governments unable to "match" funds with federal grants and aid which are tied to "matching" funds paid by cities applying for them.

Additionally, he said, another $2 billion will be lost to state and local governments because a large portion of California property is owned by entities outside the state that are reaping tax savings which in turn will be spent in other areas of the country.

Douglass said the most drastic and far-reaching effect of the tax cut will be the growth and forced building in central city areas.

He explained that growth is tied to the tax cut because services to the fringe areas of cities are more costly because of their distance.

So naturally, cities looking ahead to those additional costs will halt new construction in those fringe areas, he noted.

"This will cause radical changes in land use and radical crowding in the inner cities," Douglass said. Adding to this dilemma, the return to the inner cities, which will increase the cost of living there, will probably force the poorer people now living there out.

"The helpless, as usual, are going to be hurt the most," he said.

When asked whether churches and individuals will provide some of the services and assistance once given by cities to the poorer segments of society, Douglass said, "no."

"Tyranny of the majority is what Proposition 13 is," Douglass told the audience.

Douglass said increased property values of the inner city will cause mass migration of California's poor to other states.

He said other far-reaching effects will be a redistribution of government power at all levels; lowered access to higher education and a "profound" change in attitudes of the public toward business.

He said the passage of Proposition 13 shifts the share of taxes paid by businesses to the individual. "This will cause a revolt against business, which is already under fire," he said.

Douglass believes the tax cut benefited landlords, business and farmers far more than it did individuals, who will eventually be forced to pay for services in other ways than property taxes.

Joint replacement called latest medical miracle

By LINDA BERGSTEDT
Panorama Editor

The latest miracle in medicine is an orthopedic one — complete joint replacement.

The most successful joint replacement operation is a total hip replacement, which Dr. Ernest M. Freedle said "now is common place." Dr. Freedle spoke on current orthopedic surgical treatment of arthritic or worn-out joints during the recent meeting of the San Antonio Community Hospital Auxiliary in Aita Auditorium at the hospital. "For years, the media lauded the miracle of heart transplants and this was in the news, but total joint replacement was not known about," he said. "The public first became aware of this new miracle through the success of a total hip replacement," he said. Surgery to replace the hip is normally done when the normal joint is destroyed, usually by arthritis. "The beauty of this surgery is the speed in which the patient is up and about," Dr. Freedle said. "Some walk out of the hospital after seven days," he added. As for the post-operative recovery from total hip replacement, the patient is usually up on the second or third day and walking by the third or fourth day. "And this is with all pain gone. It truly is a miracle," the orthopedic surgeon said. He also discussed finger joint replacement and knee joint replacement, saying the latter poses a more "formidable problem" because the ultimate design of a replacement part or prosthesis has not been made. "The knee joint also is not as versatile as the hip," he said. Other joint replacements have not been as successful either, partly because of a lack of need and also because of technical design problems. Dr. Freedle said shoulder-joint replacement is not a common operation generally, while replacing the three joints in an elbow is more popular. After he showed a film illustrating the surgery involved in a total hip replacement, Dr. Freedle answered questions from the men and women in the audience. When asked how long a hip replacement would last, he said, "We don't know for sure, but definitely at least 15 to 20 years." If a hip replacement wears out, it can be done again, the orthopedic surgeon noted. While complications with this kind of surgery are rare, infection "can cause a real serious problem," he noted. The total cost of total hip replacement, including hospital fees, would run between $4,000 to $5,000, as estimated by Dr. Freedle. In conclusion, he mentioned that most destruction of hips is caused by arthritis, the "gray-haired, getting old type of arthritis," which rarely causes fusion of the hip. "Everybody in this room has a little arthritis, it's part of gray hair and getting old," he said.

Carols, gifts presented to 230 patients

More than 150 people participating in the Holiday Hospital Project will travel to two local hospitals and one convalescent home on Christmas to sing carols, deliver gifts, and visit with 230 patients who will not be able to spend the holidays at home with their families. The seventh annual Holiday Hospital Project is inviting the public to join them in coordinating the project, wrapping and preparing gifts, and delivering gifts on Christmas Day. As in previous years, the project will be coordinated by volunteers who have taken part in programs offered by est. an educational organization, who are donating their time to support the Project.

"We want people to have a great experience of the Holiday Spirit," says Kersti Levine, national chairperson of the Holiday Hospital Project. "We want to share our holiday with children and adults who might otherwise have spent Christmas alone. It is also an opportunity for people to discover that their lives can make a difference in the world, that just sharing their love with others is the true gift of the season."

On Christmas Day, teams of people participating in the Holiday Hospital Project will deliver the gifts to hospitals and convalescent homes between 11 a.m. and noon. For information on how to participate, write the Holiday Hospital Project at 9350 Magnolia Avenue, Riverside, or call Ms. June Redick (714) 624-5134, T. Kneiser (714) 621-7892, or (714) 354-7223.

The project is funded by contributions (not more than $3 per person) from participants. This year the Holiday Hospital Project is being conducted in more

Governor won't get a wreath this year

Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. need not be concerned this year with returning a Della Robbia Christmas wreath to Boys Republic in Chino because he isn't going to receive one.

Traditionally, a Della Robbia wreath is sent every year to the president of the United States and the governor of California.

Last year, Gov. Brown returned his wreath without opening the box, so this year, Max Scott, Boys Republic executive director, said Gov. Brown's name was scratched from the gift list.

President and Mrs. Carter received their wreath and immediately acknowledged the gift with a thank you letter from Mrs. Carter.

A spokesman for Gov. Brown in Sacramento said the governor has a general policy against accepting gifts, but usually, in the case of a wreath, it would be given to charity. He said in the past, wreaths have been sent to the Sacramento Children's Home.

In 1977, the Della Robbia wreath, made by the boys at Boys Republic, wasn't sent to charity. It came from Sacramento to Chino.

Certification Emergency care taught

ALTA LOMA — An eight-hour class in emergency medical care for emergency medical technician certification will begin Jan. 8 at the Corona Norco Education Center located at the Naval Weapons Center. The course is sponsored by Chaffey College.

All techniques of emergency medical care will be presented, emphasizing the development of skill in recognition of symptoms of illness and injuries in proper procedures of emergency care.

This course must be taken every two years by emergency medical technicians. Certification is issued upon completion of the course.

Registration is at the first class session. Call Sandra Gray, 987-1737, extension 488, for more information.

Inter-Club Council

Agnes Brown has been elected president of the West End Senior Citizens Inter-Club Council. Others installed at the December meeting were: Jaunita Parks, vice president; Belin Quesada, secretary; and Milena Cambridge, treasurer. The next meeting will be held Jan. 5 at 2 p.m. in the Garden Room of the Ontario City Library.

University of La Verne, offering the only paralegal program in the Pomona, Walnut and East San Gabriel valleys, is taking applications for spring semester classes.

ULV's program in paralegal studies is geared toward both legal secretaries with years of experience and students just starting in the field.

Dr. Brenda Barham, director of paralegal studies, said though La Verne is currently catering to those with working experience in the legal profession, students with no experience can be accepted into the program.

"We've had quite a bit of interest from those in fields other than the law," said Barham. Undergraduates at the university are becoming more involved in paralegal studies as well, taking courses as preparation for law school, she said.

Three night classes are offered each semester. Graduates receive a certificate after completing 10 courses. Students are required to take three basic classes: Introduction to Paralegalism, Legal Writing, and Analysis and Research. Then they can take a wide range of electives, including Criminal Law and Procedure, Debtor-Creditor Relationships, and Family Law.

Barham said legal secretaries need not complete the entire course sequence and may just enroll in classes directly related to their own job needs.

Because of increased interest from newcomers in the paralegal field, the program will eventually add an internship and job placement service, she said.

Students must have a high school diploma and two letters of recommendation for acceptance into the program. Those with no experience in the legal field must sign up for counseling before application.

Spring classes begin Feb. 5. For more information, contact Barham at the University of La Verne, paralegal studies, 1950 Third St., La Verne, (714) 593-3511, extension 253.

Food Processor Workshop

Casa Colina Remedial Program

School-age children with behavioral problems are being interviewed for registration in the winter session of Casa Colina Children's Services Center's intensive remedial program. The winter session opens Jan. 9, and continues for 10 weeks.

Children, 6-12 years, who have difficulties in concentration, self-control, hyperactivity, and similar problems, are eligible, according to Elizabeth Neumann, Ph.D., the center's director.

The program, conducted by David Drake, is intensive and includes both group and individual approaches. Through counseling, deep-relaxation training, videotape feedback, self-suggestion, and specialized group interaction experiences, the children are enabled to develop more appropriate behaviors.

Information regarding interviews, appointments and fees can be obtained by calling David Drake, Casa Colina Children's Services Center, 593-7521, extension 275.

Teachers oppose hiring consultant

OMSD to seek help in search

By KEN SWART
Staff Writer

Despite a split board vote and strong teacher association opposition, a consulting firm will probably be hired by the Ontario-Montclair School District to help select a replacement for Superintendent Jack Jones, the district board decided Thursday.

Dr. Jones resigned his position last month to accept a job promotion in a private company.

The decision was unofficial but directed district administrators to begin notifying consultant firms and investigating the cost of hiring one. A special public meeting was set for 7 p.m. Jan. 2 in the district offices, 950 W. D St., Ontario, to begin the process of hiring a firm.

Trustee Bill Hennie was the only board member who disagreed with the concept of hiring a consulting firm.

"I feel we have qualified people within the district who could not only do the screening but could do the job of superintendent," Hennie said.

"I think it's a slap in the face for all of those people who elected us if we hire a consulting firm," Hennie said.

Noting that residents voted to keep school district costs down with their overwhelming support of Proposition 13, Hennie added, "I think the board is going against the wishes of the voters by hiring an outside firm."

"It's a total waste of money and taxpayers have already told us to stop spending money needlessly," he said.

Trustee Sam DiGiovanni, apparently speaking for the majority of the five-member board, said, "I think in all fairness to the school district and the taxpayers, and for what is the best for everybody, we should hire a consultant."

He added that a consulting firm should proceed "with the understanding that we'll open it (the position) up to the state and the nation."

Hennie said, "I'm not opposed to getting outside applications for the position, but the less money we spend (on searching) the better off we'll be."

Citing a cost of about $2,000 to hire such a consulting firm, DiGiovanni said, "For the cost it's money very, very well spent and it will assure everyone that we tried to get the best man for the job."

"I can't believe we can get any consulting firm for only $2,000," Hennie said, "and I think it's money we could well use somewhere else."

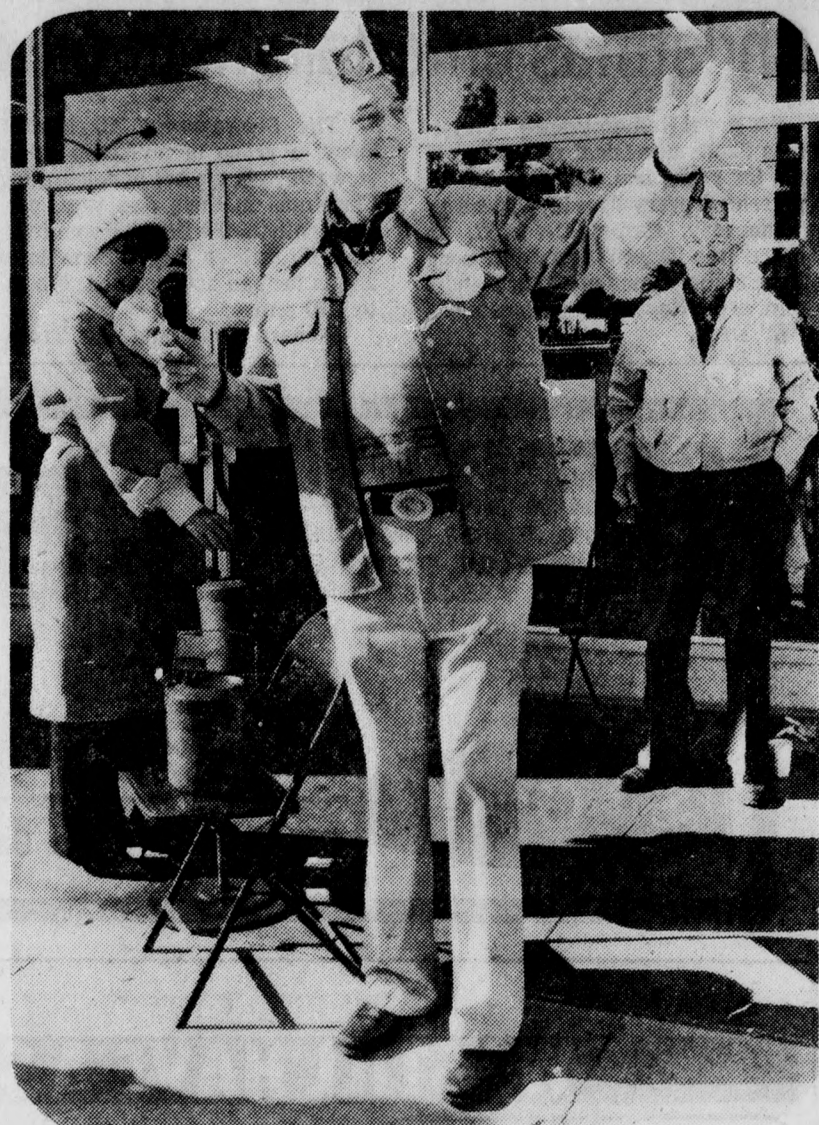

The Ontario Montclair Teachers Association bitterly opposed the hiring of a consulting firm, and Beverly Cowan, association president, told the board why.

"It is an insult to the intelligence of the citizens of this community and to the employees of this district to hire outside help," Mrs. Cowan said. "Committees in the past have done an excellent job" of locating and recommending responsible people.

She also noted, "It is a waste of taxpayers money in this post-Proposition 13 era when the dollar must be closely guarded against wanton spending."

"(And) it is an insult to the voters when you, the board, are telling them that you are not competent to do the job you were elected to do," Mrs. Cowan said.

Rose Kelber, board president, responded, "Just because we were elected does not mean we can know everything. I personally still have a lot to learn and I'm not a bit ashamed by asking for help from an expert (consultant)."

Money for relief

"Ding-a-Ling" Day for the Salvation Army netted $4,234.05 which will be used for Christmas dinners and winter relief for the needy. Capt. George White of the Army said this sum is $700 more than contributed last year. Service clubs provided bell ringers for "Ding-A-Ling" Day and here Joe Meserole member of the Ontario Host Lions Club, waves a greeting while a shopper drops money in the kettle. In the background, Cason Mast, Host Lions member, is ready to take his turn ringing the bell. The Ontario Kiwanis Club brought in $1,500 to be the top winning club. (Staff photo by H. ## Former executive director sues S.B. County Medical Society

By PETER WONG
Staff Writer

A former executive director of the San Bernardino County Medical Society has sued his former employer for $1 million in damages.

In a suit filed in San Bernardino Superior Court, William S.J. van Erp alleges that his professional reputation was harmed when the medical society said he was forced to resign earlier this year on grounds of "gross negligence."

The medical society was accused of making that statement in connection with van Erp's application for state unemployment benefits, which van Erp was granted anyway.

Van Erp said in a telephone interview Friday that he asked for a retraction of the medical society's statement, which also said van Erp "failed to comply with the conditions of the position." But he said no retraction was issued.

Van Erp said he is also seeking severance pay and benefits amounting to $22,075.

Officials of the medical society were not available for comment Friday night.

Van Erp, 43, was the executive director of the San Bernardino County Medical Society from Jan. 1, 1977, until May 26 of this year. He was assistant executive director of the Sonoma County Medical Society for five previous years.

Van Erp's suit also names as defendants five organizations affiliated with the county medical society and Dr. Fred Gattas, an Upland specialist in internal medicine and this year's president of the medical society.

Van Erp said he had received no previous hint from the society's board of directors that the doctors were dissatisfied with his performance as executive director.

He pointed to a letter of commendation from the society's 1976-77 president, Dr. W. Benson Harer of San Bernardino, and a salary increase and $500 cash bonus in November 1977 as evidence in support of his performance.

But on May 25 of this year, van Erp said he met with three doctors — Gattas, Dr. Daniel Gorenberg of San Bernardino, the society's 1977-78 president, and Dr. Myron J. Talbert of Redlands.

The doctors told him the board of directors had requested his resignation and that the society offered to pay his salary and medical insurance through July.

"Obviously, I was shocked by the whole situation," van Erp said. He said he was told only that the board of directors had reviewed the medical society's goals in the session that led to the request for his resignation.

Van Erp is represented by Olen G. Miller, a San Bernardino attorney.

Local cities

Local cities received more than $1 million from the November allocation of sales and use tax receipts, announced Iris Sankey, member, State Board of Equalization.

Included are Ontario, $312,500; Montclair, $252,500; Upland, $172,500; Fontana, $116,000; Chino, $91,000, and Claremont, $57,500.

OMS pivotal in race feud

And the battle goes on!

Ontario Motor Speedway is retaining a neutral position and, officially at the moment, many another track is likewise staying clear of the feud between the long-established U.S. Auto Club and the fledgling CART organization, but the battle lines are being drawn.

In all probability there will be a 10th running of the California 500 next Labor Day Sunday and it will may be that USAC will be the governing body.

But even if CART can influence OMS General Manager Ray Smartis to align with it, virtually the same field of drivers that comprised last September's outing will be in the race again.

A group of owners headed by U. E. "Pat" Patrick, Bob Fletcher and Roger Penske split with USAC over policy matters and formed CART — Championship Auto Racing Teams.

CART also counts among its notable members racing greats A.J. Foyt and Al Unser, this year's triple crown champion; Team McLaren and former driver-turned builder Dan Gurney.

The dissident group, which has already lined up several races for its own championship series, has agreed to make the Sports Car Club of America its sanctioning body for the next five years.

Despite behind-the-scenes efforts to resolve differences, USAC president Dick King admitted the split was "serious."

"USAC will go on," he said. "We have five other divisions and we sanction Indianapolis. Right now it's a Mexican standoff."

"I'm not optimistic enough to foresee a solution but there are some things going on I can't really talk about."

Driver Johnny Rutherford, a two-time 500 winner, said as far as he was concerned USAC "is through."

"It got away from us," he said. "The people we hired to run it got the idea they were USAC. They were telling us what to do. What happened is the car owners got fed up."

"We're going to race somewhere next year for sure, for a lot more money. We'll be getting up with the times."

The board of directors of USAC, which was founded in 1955 to replace the American Automobile Association as sanctioning body in racing, last month unanimously rejected a proposal to share control of championship racing with the owners.

The CART group requested formation of a separate board to govern USAC's National Championship Division, which includes the triple crown of racing — the 500-milers at Indianapolis, Pocono and Ontario.

The plan presented by Patrick called for establishment of a special 12-man board to govern the championship circuit, with six members coming from the USAC board and the other six from CART.

The proposal was rejected, said USAC Chairman Reynold C. MacDonald, because "we feel we must continue to function in the best interests of all our members. They include not only car owners, but also drivers, mechanics, race organizers, manufacturers and sponsors."

However, USAC agreed to some of CART's recommendations regarding engines and the size of wings on championship cars. CART leaders said they sought rules that would make race cars more competitive and requested more say in a television package.

King charged the group headed by Patrick, Fletcher and Penske wanted to run "the whole thing. You just can't have a group of six car owners call all the shots. They want control of that phase of racing."

Fletcher said it was time "to take a stand. The race fans have to be taken into consideration in this matter and we want them to know there will be a championship division in racing next year."

USAC and Indianapolis Motor Speedway officials said the Indianapolis 500 will remain under USAC's sanction — regardless of the split.

CART officials said they expected "no problems" at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. In fact, they said when the split with USAC first surfaced they would abide by Speedway and USAC rules.

"The Speedway is going to run its race," said Rutherford, who won the 1974 and 1976 500s.

Festivities at Disneyland

Capturing the joys of Christmas through traditional sights and song, Disneyland will showcase yuletide excitement throughout Jan. 1.

A parade, plenty of holiday atmosphere and top-name musical entertainment will be showcased throughout Disneyland's Christmas season.

In addition, the park will complete the yuletide flavor with bountiful holiday decorations. Traditional wreaths and colorful Christmas bells will hang from the doors of Main Street's turn-of-the-century shops, while a majestic 60-foot Christmas tree will stand in Town Square, adorned with 3,000 lights and 2,800 ornaments.

At the other end of Main Street, at Sleeping Beauty Castle, will be two white-flocked Christmas trees sprouting from the shimmering waters of the moat. And strolling throughout the park, Disneyland's Dickens Carolers will serenade guests with mirthful renditions of the season's favorite melodies.

Christmas at Disneyland have traditionally been highlighted by a holiday parade, and this season is the second year of the

"Very Merry Christmas Parade."

With dancing Christmas cards, marching toy soldiers and Santa Claus himself, the "Very Merry

For Dec. 22-23, popular Christmas Parade depicts Disney interpretations of Yuletide traditions. More than 200 performers will bring the parade to life with daily performances during the 17-day season.

Starbuck will appear at Tomorrowland's Space Stage, while the California surfing sound of Papa Doo Run Run is scheduled for Plaza Gardens.

From Dec. 26-30, Disneyland will spotlight the soulful style of The Sylvers in Space Stage performances, with Tex Beneke and His Orchestra slated for Plaza Gardens.

The Magic Kingdom's New Year's Eve Party, a perennial sellout, will be held from 8:30 p.m. to 2:30 a.m. Dec. 31. Rose Royce, Stargard, and Terry Gibbs and His Orchestra will appear.

Disneyland's Christmas hours will be: 9 a.m. to midnight Dec. 16-17; 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Dec. 18-21; 9 a.m. to midnight Dec. 22-23; 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Dec. 24-25; 8 a.m. to midnight Dec. 26-30; 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Dec. 31.

Snowfall at park

VALENCIA — Three inches of snow will fall upon Magic Mountain's Spillikin Corners' crafts village every day through Monday, Jan. 1, transforming that attraction into a winter wonderland for the entire family!

Magic Mountain will be open daily (except Christmas Day) through Monday, Jan. 1, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

24,000 square feet of snow — renewed daily — will offer guests a chance to test their snowball-tossing skills and a steep, snowy slide area for intrepid kids of all ages to personally experience what a White Christmas is all about.

The Ghost of Christmas Present, Duane Thomas, right, explains to Scrooge, Gary Hobo, "You're decreasing the surplus population," in a scene from the Gallery Theater production of "A Christmas Carol." The holiday play is presented each Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Ontario playhouse, 126 E. C St. For reservations call 986-7000. Play closes Dec. 30. Opening Friday, Jan. 5 is "How the Other Half Loves," a comedy.

Christmas entertainment slated

"Lonesome George" Gobel will perform Christmas week (Dec. 26-31) in Knott's Berry Farm's Good Time Theater. He will be supported by the young singing group, "Chapter 5" featuring impressionist Carl Edwards, appearing several times nightly as the highlight of the Orange County theme park's holiday entertainment.

Master illusionist Chuck Jones brings his blend of whimsy and wizardry to the Good Time Theater every afternoon from Dec. 26 through New Year's Day. "Magic in Toyland," with a cast of ten, will display a variety of illusions.

Woody Herman and the Young Thundering Herd will lay down their combination of big band and jazz sounds for dancers and listeners every night Dec. 26 through 31 in the Cloud 9 Ballroom.

The zany music, wit and impressions of Skiles and Henderson will be presented in the Wagon Camp evenings during Christmas week.

Knott's Holiday Festival of Music continues through Christmas week. Singing and instrumental groups from all over the west will perform both in the park and outside, near the Chicken Dinner Restaurant, the Garden Room Buffet and Knott's Steak House, or in the vicinity of many of the shops which line Grand Avenue.

Knott's Berry Farm is open from 9 a.m. until 11 p.m. Dec. 26-28, from 9 until midnight Dec. 29 and 30, from 9 until 6 Dec. 31, followed by the New Year's Eve party, and from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. new Year's Day.

The "craftiest" shoppers know that thrift stores are idea factories for hundreds of inexpensive crafts and have the satisfaction of knowing they are giving more than just a homemade Christmas gift.

"Golf Ball Doggy" would make a great paperweight for Mom or Dad. This project takes seven old golf balls, a golf tee, acrylic white spray paint, epoxy glue and scrap pieces of felt. The first step in the project is to glue four of the balls into a square, which will form the dog's legs. Then choose a back and front for your dog. Step two: glue a ball between the front two "legs" on the same level. This ball will hold the dog's nose and tongue. Next step: glue the sixth ball on top of the triangle created by the head and the front two legs. Glue the final ball in the middle of the original square. These create the dog's body.

For the dog's tail, glue the golf tee at an angle to the ball on the upper level directly back of the head. Spray paint the whole figure — it may take more than one coat.

Make ears, a nose and a tongue from felt. Glue the ears to the front ball on the upper level. On this same ball, glue eyes just above the front ball. Make eyes from felt or buy the plastic, movable ones. On the front ball, glue the nose and tongue and doggie is done.

A variety of artificial flowers can be found in most thrift stores to use in making "Forever Flowers," a simple idea to make into a variety of gifts. Supplies include the plastic flowers, varnish and imagination. The completed flowers have an almost glassy appearance and make attractive table settings or personal ornaments. Either dip or brush flowers with clear varnish. It may take more than one coat to get the look you want. Wait 24 hours in between coats or before touching the flowers. A good way to keep flowers from getting bumped is to dip them by the stem and clothes pin them onto a line. Make sure to keep paper under them to catch the drips. For the first hour, check for drips and wipe away any with a small paint brush. Once the flowers have been allowed to dry for 24 hours, they are ready to be arranged for a display.

Make gifts from 'finds'

December 21, 1978

Use scraps of felt and trinkets discovered in the costume jewelry pile of thrift stores to make "Felt Tree Ornaments." Cut out two pieces of felt in a shape you like.

Samples of gifts created from recycled materials found in thrift shops include "Forever Flowers," "Golf Ball Doggy" and "Felt Tree Ornaments."

Goodies are in limelight for festivities

Baked goodies of every sort are in the limelight during the holidays. That's why having an ample supply of vacuum packed wheat germ on hand is more important than ever.

It's the healthful secret ingredient in the best cookies, cakes, puddings, pies and breads. Wheat germ makes everything it goes into a lot more interesting and nutritious.

Among those very special desserts served traditionally at Christmas time is the noel log or buche de noel. The popular favorite is loved for its distinctive appearance as well as for its delectable eating qualities. This wheat germ version is one of the best logs we've ever tasted. The cake is moist, the filling creamy and the chocolate glaze is shiny. A perfect combination. The result is superb taste and texture, and easy handling for home bakers.

Basically, all noel logs are filled cake rolls with a decorative icing or glaze. In this recipe, the cake itself is a wonderful surprise. The chocolate flavored batter has plenty of wheat germ to give it a tasty rich taste. The batter is baked in a jelly roll pan. Watch oven time carefully to avoid overbaking. The filling is a luscious mixture of ricotta cheese and whipping cream accented with bits of chocolate and candied fruits. Just follow the instruction for rolling the cake — it's not at all difficult to handle.

A lustrous chocolate glaze finishes this holiday masterpiece. Garnish as elaborately as you wish with a sprinkle of golden wheat germ and colorful candied fruits. All eyes are guaranteed to light up when the noel log is brought to the table.

Wheat Germ Noel Log

4 eggs, separated
2/3 cup sugar
1/4 cup flour
3 tablespoons cocoa
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
3/4 cup vacuum packed wheat germ, regular Ricotta Filling
Powdered Sugar
Chocolate Glaze
Wheat germ, candied pineapple

and cherries for garnish

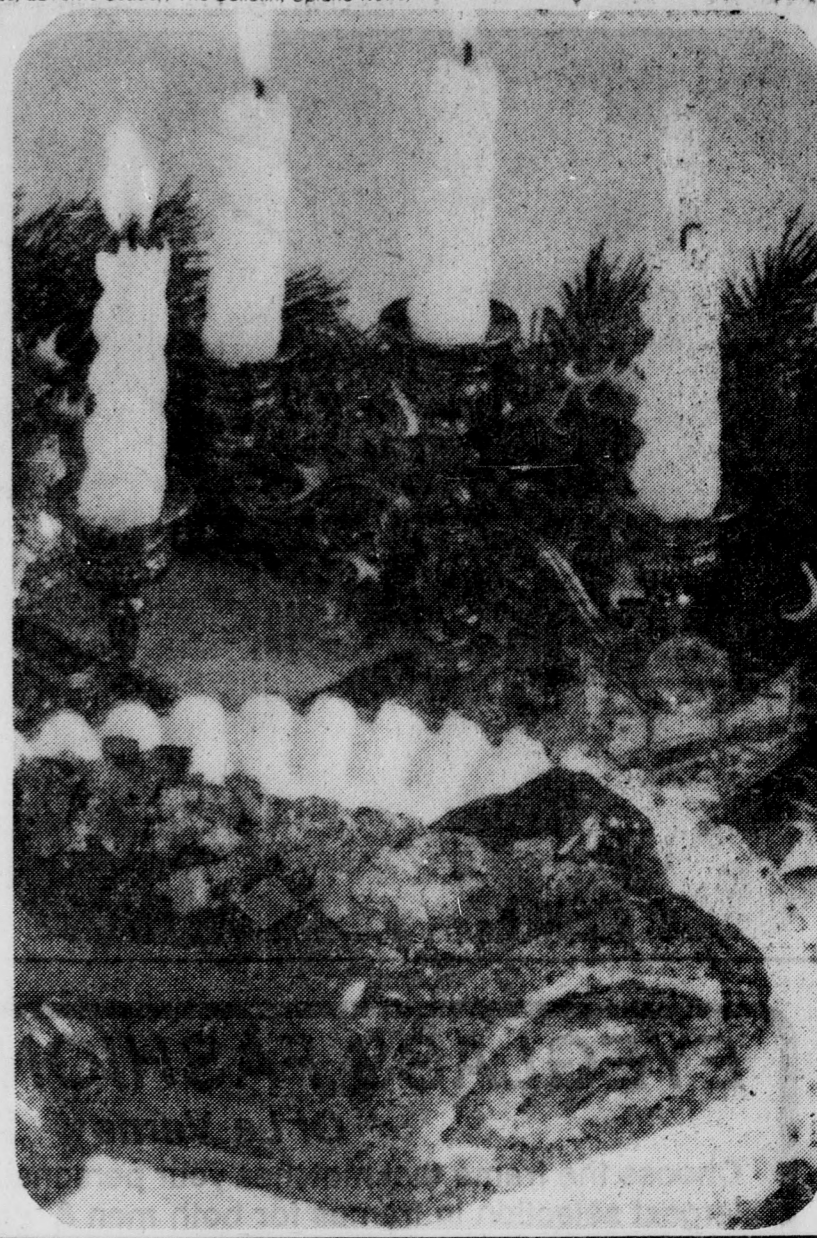

Line bottom of greased 15x10x1-inch jelly roll pan with wax paper. Grease paper. Beat egg yolks until light and lemon colored. Gradually add 1/3 cup sugar and beat until thick. Combine and beat in flour, cocoa and baking powder. Beat egg whites until foamy. Beat in salt and cream of tartar. Gradually beat in remaining 1/3 cup sugar and continue beating until stiff peaks form. Fold wheat germ and egg whites into egg yolk mixture. Turn into prepared pan, spreading evenly. Bake in 350 degree oven 18 to 20 minutes until cake springs back when lightly touched. Loosen edges and invert onto towel sprinkled with powdered sugar. Peel off wax paper. Roll up cake carefully in towel, beginning with short side. Cool 20 minutes. Prepare Ricotta Filling while cake cools. Unroll cake. Remove towel. Spread with filling. Roll up carefully. Cut off ends of cake on diagonal. Transfer cake to serving tray. Press cake pieces slightly to shape into branches. Attach one to either side of roll. Spread cake with Chocolate Glaze. Garnish with additional wheat germ and candied fruits. Refrigerate until ready to serve. Makes 8 servings.

RICOTTA FILLING: Combine 1/2 pint ricotta cheese, 1/2 cup whipping cream and 1/4 cup sugar in electric blender. Whip, stop and go fashion until thickened. Stir in 2 ounces chopped semi-sweet chocolate, 1/4 cup wheat germ and 1/4 cup diced candied pineapple and cherries.

CHOCOLATE GLAZE: Melt over low heat, stirring occasionally, 3 ounces semisweet chocolate and 3 tablespoons shortening. Remove from heat. Cool to spreading consistency.

Christmas is the time for good food — all kinds of foods we normally don't eat any other time of the year. This Noel Log is not only super good and rich, but it has wheat germ as its base, so the nutrition slips into fun eating. Try it, you'll like it — and so will all the family.

Homemade gifts gain approval

The "back to basics" trend has led to an increase in the number of homemade Christmas gifts. Among the most popular handmade gifts are cookies and candies. Years ago they were traditional but gradually lost out in favor of purchased gifts.

Today, they are again gaining in popularity. These homemade gifts are especially appreciated by those who are unable or may not have the time to make them for themselves.

Peanut Pralines

Makes 2 dozen candies
2 cups sugar
3/4 teaspoon baking soda
1 cup half-and-half
1 1/2 teaspoons margarine
2 cups cocktail peanuts
1 tablespoon hot water
Combine sugar, baking soda and half-and-half in a large saucepan. Bring to a boil over medium heat; cook to soft ball stage (234 degrees F.), stirring constantly. Remove mixture from heat. Stir in margarine and cocktail peanuts. Beat until thickened, 2-3 minutes. Mix in hot water. Drop by tablespoonfuls onto waxed paper. Cool.

Nutty Nuggets

Makes 4 dozen
1/2 cup (1 stick) margarine
3/4 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
2 eggs
1 1/2 cups unsifted flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1 cup roasted peanuts, coarsely chopped
1/2 cup dark seedless raisins
Cream margarine and brown sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs. Sift together flour, cinnamon and baking soda; stir into creamed mixture until smooth. Blend in dry roasted peanuts and raisins. Drop batter by rounded teaspoonfuls onto greased baking sheets. Bake at 375 degrees F. for 8 minutes, or until lightly browned. Remove from baking sheets and cool on wire racks.

Chocolate Dip Tops

Makes 5 1/2 dozen
2 cups flour
1/2 cup unsweetened cocoa
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup (1 stick) margarine
1/2 cup creamy peanut butter
1 1/4 cups sugar
2 eggs
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla extract
1/3 cup milk

1 package (6 oz.) artificial butterscotch flavored morsels

Finely chopped cocktail peanuts

Sift together flour, cocoa, baking powder and salt; set aside.

Cream together margarine, peanut butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs and vanilla; beat well. Alternately blend in dry ingredients and milk, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Drop by rounded teaspoonfuls onto ungreased baking sheets. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 8-10 minutes. Cool on wire racks.

Melt butterscotch morsels in a saucepan over hot water. Dip tops of cookies into melted morsels, then into chopped cocktail peanuts.

New taste is in this apple-pear pie

Homemade Apple-Pear Pie is a recipe that Mother wishes she would have created. The taste combination of apple and pears is one better than just plain apple pie. The fruit flavors are subtly enhanced with the tang of molasses.

Here is the recipe:

Apple-Pear Pie

Pastry for 2-crust pie
3 large tart apples, pared and thinly sliced (about 4 cups)

3 or 4 pears, pared and thinly sliced (about 4 cups)
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/4 cup light molasses
3/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 egg yolk
Roll out half of pastry and line 9-inch pie plate; trim. In large bowl, combine apple and pear slices; sprinkle with lemon juice. Add molasses and blend well. In small bowl, combine sugar, flour, spices and salt. Add to fruit, tossing lightly. Turn into prepared pie shell, mounding higher in center; dot with butter. Roll out remaining pastry. Moisten rim of pie shell slightly with water; adjust top crust over filling. Press the two crusts together on rim of pie plate. Trim upper crust about 1/2-inch beyond edge of plate. Fold under to form standing edge and flute. Cut several slits decoratively in top crust; egg yolk beaten with 2 teaspoons water. Bake in a preheated 450 degree F. oven for 10 minutes, lower heat to 350 degrees F. and bake an additional 45-50 minutes or until golden brown. Cool on wire rack. Serve warm, if desired. Nice served with cheddar cheese or vanilla ice cream. Makes 1 9-inch pie.

Coconut Crown Cake is ideal for the busy holiday season. It is good for entertaining and for family eating. The cake can be made with a cake mix in jig time and have great seasonal appeal. There's also a delicious Rum Mincemeat Pound Cake which all will enjoy.

Holiday cakes quick

If there ever was a time when you need shortcuts that don't show, it's during the busy holiday season. More entertaining, more special family meals, plus all the other holiday activities crowd everyone's schedule.

So here are two cake desserts that start with ring cake mix, take only a few extra ingredients and need no elaborate frosting or garnishing to be party-good.

If your idea of the best cake for any time of year is chocolate, Coconut Crown Cake will be your favorite. The rich chocolate base is topped with a macaroon crown and a drizzle of glaze. It's a cake that can fit into holiday parties from now until New Year's Eve and beyond.

Another cake with more seasonal appeal is Rum Mincemeat Pound Cake. This rich, spicy cake keeps well, or it can be made whenever you have time and frozen. You might even want to make an extra as a gift from your kitchen. Since it starts with pound cake supreme mix, it takes only a few minutes to stir it up, and it only needs a sprinkling of powdered sugar as a topper.

Coconut Crown Cake
1 pkg. chocolate macaroon ring cake mix
1 1/4 cups water
1/4 cup margarine or butter, softened
2 eggs
1/4 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1/4 cup margarine or butter

Heat oven to 350 degrees F. Grease and flour 12-cup fluted tube pan. In large bowl, blend large clear packet of cake mix, water, 1/4 cup margarine and eggs until moistened. Beat 2 minutes at medium speed (portable mixer use highest speed). In small saucepan, heat brown sugar and margarine until margarine melts. Stir in small clear packet of macaroon mix until well blended. Spoon mixture into bottom of prepared pan. Pack firmly into bottom of pan to form even circle. Pour batter over mixture. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 35 to 45 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool until lukewarm; invert onto serving plate. Blend packet of glaze mix and 1 to 2 tablespoons water until smooth. Spoon over cooled cake. Store loosely covered. 12 to 16 servings.

High altitude — Above 3,500 feet: Prepare as directed, adding 2 tablespoons flour to large clear packet of cake mix.

Rum Mincemeat Pound Cake

1 pkg. ring pound cake supreme mix
1 1/2 cups mincemeat
1 cup water
1/4 cup margarine or butter, softened
1 teaspoon rum extract
3 eggs

Heat oven to 325 degrees F. Grease 12-cup fluted tube pan. In large bowl, blend 2 clear packets of cake mix and remaining ingredients until moistened. Beat 2 minutes at medium speed (portable mixer use highest speed). Pour into prepared pan. Bake at 325 degrees F. for 50 to 60 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool until lukewarm; invert onto serving plate. Sprinkle or sift packet of topping over cooled cake. Store tightly covered. 12 to 16 servings.

High altitude — Above 3,500 feet: Grease and flour pan and bake at 325 degrees F. for 55 to 65 minutes.

Making cookie shapes is almost like magic

Making shaped and decorated Christmas cookies doesn't need to take a lot of time. You can get a variety of shapes quickly with refrigerated slice and bake sugar cookies and then concentrate on the decorating.

Add colored sugar, decorator icing and candies and you can turn out jolly Santas with red hats and big white mustaches, bright-eyed angels, fat snowmen and red and white candy canes. For contrast, you can bake plain round sugar cookies and transform them with green wreaths and red candy berries.

Making these cookies shapes is a great way to let children take part in holiday baking, too. It will seem almost like magic for them to see how the pieces of dough turn into these Christmas shapes.

Holiday Cookie Shapes
Materials needed:
16-oz. roll refrigerated sugar slice 'n bake cookies
Cake and cookie decorators or pastry tube and tips and tinted frosting

Ready-to-spread vanilla frosting supreme or your favorite butter cream frosting

Decorator candies, gum drops, raisins, chocolate chips and red tinted sugar.

General Directions
For easier cutting and shaping, work with part of the dough at a time and refrigerate rest until needed. Slice cookie dough into 1/4-inch slices. Shape cookies on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 8 to 10 minutes or until light golden brown around edges. (Do not overbake.) Cool completely on rack before decorating.

Cookie Shapes:
Santa:
1) Use 2 slices. 2) Cut narrow strip from two sides of one slice, forming a triangle. 3) Place triangle over one edge of whole slice for Santa's hat. Use two narrow strips for mustache. Place horizontally on either side of whole slice, inner edges touching and curved edges down. Add chocolate chip eyes. 4) Bake. Cool on rack. Frost hat and mustache with vanilla frosting, using a decorator tip, if desired. Sprinkle hat with red sugar. Make nose and mouth with red frosting using a decorator tip.

Angel:
1) Use 1 1/4 slices. 2) Cut narrow strip from two sides of full slice to form wings and triangular body. 3) Place cut-off strips horizontally on either side of top of triangle for wings. Roll 1/4 slice into ball for head. Place at top of triangle. Add candy eyes. 4) Bake. Cool on rack. Outline body and wings with frosting using a decorator writing tip.

Snowman:
1) Use 2 slices. 2) Halve 1 slice; roll into 2 small balls. 3) Place 2 small balls in a row, 1/2-inch apart, above whole slice to form snowman. 4) Bake. Cool on rack. Frost with vanilla frosting. Form eyes, nose, mouth and buttons with raisins, gum drops or decorator candies. Make muffler with frosting using a decorator writing tip.

Bethlehem theme overcomes bitterness that stilled music

By Marie Toennissen
Covina Seventh-day
Adventist Church

Many Christmas legends have appeared over the years. My favorite, "The Legend of the Christmas Eve Adventure," goes something like this:

Long ago an organ master built an organ — the greatest organ in the land. Its pure and beautiful strains could be heard for miles, calling the people to worship. As time passed, it was believed that on Christmas Eve the organ's strains were louder and more beautiful than at any other time.

And then plague hit the land, killing the organ master's only child. Bitterness filled his heart. "Never again," he said, "will I play the organ for worship."

And so the organ's mighty voice was stilled, and after a while the people stopped going to church. The organ master grew old, and his bitterness grew each year.

One Christmas Eve as he sat brooding before the fire, a knock sounded on the door. Outside stood the village doctor with a book in his hand.

"Here," he said, "this book is for you. I know your grief that has filled you like a disease. It is a mortal disease, but no mortal doctor can heal it. Only the Great Physician can heal pain like yours. Read this book. It is the greatest gift I can give you."

As the door closed, the organ master opened and began to read the book. The fire burned low and still he read on. Suddenly, with tears streaming down his cheeks, he fell to his knees and prayed.

"God, I have been wrong. I have blamed you for the loss of my child, forgetting that you, too, gave your only son to save my life. Thank you for this book, and forgive me for the years I have lost in bitterness."

With stumbling steps he hurried to the church and to the organ — silent for so many years. With trembling hands he pressed the keys and once again the music sounded out on the clear night air.

In their homes the people stood amazed. "It is the organ master," they cried. "He is playing for Christmas Eve." Joyfully they streamed out of their homes, across the snowy streets, to fill the church again.

As the doctor hurried on about his calls, he heard the organ and his heart bowed in thankfulness.

"A miracle," he whispered. "And all because of a book filled with the healing love of the Great Doctor above."

He looked from the hilltop to the lights below, and beyond he saw the lights of another town. And then another. Many towns. Many people with hearts filled with bitterness.

"It's a beginning," he murmured. "Each Christmas Eve I will go forth with this book of love. I will scatter them among the people."

"Yes, indeed," he said as he hurried on his way. "It is only a beginning — only a beginning."

And so was born the legend of Christmas Eve adventure. The author is apparently unknown, but the legend continues.

The Bethlehem story is an exhaustless theme. In it is hidden the depth of the riches both of wisdom and knowledge of God. And we marvel at the love of God, the Father, who "gave His only begotten son that man might not perish, but have eternal life." John 3:16. Herein is love eternal.

Victory of Jewish people

Lights mark history

By Rabbi Henry E. Kraus
Temple Beth Ami
West Covina

This year we will kindle the first Hanukkah light on Sunday evening Dec. 24 with songs and prayers. Each night we light one additional candle for eight nights. The flames of the Hanukkah candles throw a light on our ancient history.

Hanukkah commemorates a historic event — rededication of the holy temple in Jerusalem, when Syrian King Antiochus IV wanted to force paganism upon the Jewish people. The festival also commemorates the great victories of the Macabean heroes which led to the religious freedom and independence of the Jewish people.

Hanukkah is the climax of the struggle for freedom and the celebration of the victory of monotheism — the idea of one god.

When we light the Hanukkah candles in our homes and synagogues, our hearts beat more strongly with the candles and with the songs. They remind us and the whole world "For out of Zion shall go forth the law and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem" (Isaiah 2:3).

With these lights we recall our history and we rededicate ourselves to freedom and peace for the brotherhood of all under God. "Have we not all one Father? Has not one God created us?" (Malachi 2:10)

May we all enjoy a happy Hanukkah and may the flames burn brightly in our homes and may they radiate faith, joy and gladness in our hearts and peace upon the world.

"Not by might, not by power, but by my spirit says the Lord..." (Zechariah 4:6) will speak on "The Gift of Life." Nursery care will be available.

D.B. Congregational

Diamond Bar Congregational Church will hold four services Sunday. Dave and Luci Ruud will celebrate the Christmas message through contemporary folk music at 8:30 a.m.

The adult and children's choirs and soloists will lead the congregation in traditional Christmas music at the 9:45 a.m. service.

Candlelight services at 7:30 and 11 p.m. will combine lights, music and liturgy. Dr. James L. Watson will preach at all four services. Nursery care is provided.

Christ Lutheran

"Earth's Rescue" will be the sermon topic for the Dr. A.L. Plueger 8:15 and 10:45 a.m. Sunday at Christ Lutheran Church, 5500 Francis Ave., Chino. Junior and senior choirs will sing. A Sunday school celebration will be held at 9:30 a.m.

A candlelight service with choir concert will be held 7:30 p.m. Sunday, with a candlelight service of carols and scripture readings at 11 p.m. Plueger will speak on "Peace in our Time" at both Christmas Eve services. Child care is available at all services.

Christian Center

Television evangelist Dick Mills will speak 7:30 p.m. Friday at Valley Christian Center, 1404 W. Gladstone, San Dimas. Mills is affiliated with Melodyland School of Theology and has written "He Spoke and I Was Strengthened." The public is invited to attend.

Community Drive-In

Valley Community Drive-In Church will hold a Christmas Eve candlelighting service 7 p.m. Sunday. The congregation and local residents can come early to enjoy pre-service music by organist Don Scott. The church is at Lone Hill Avenue and Covina Boulevard, San Dimas.

Religious Science

The Rev. Robert Henderson will use symbolic candles to present a metaphysical interpretation of the meaning of Christmas at the 7 p.m. service Sunday at First Church of Religious Science, 509 S. College Ave., Claremont.

The service will include a "Currier & Ives" group of Christmas songs by the choir, songs by the children, a violin duet, and "Twas the Night Before Christmas" presented by Clyde Owens' talking violin.

"Happy Birthday" will be the topic for the regular service 11 a.m. Sunday. Junior church and nursery care are provided at the same time.

L.V. United Methodist

A Christmas Eve communion service will be held at 7 p.m. Sunday at United Methodist Church of La Verne. The Rev. Brad Price, interim minister, will lead the services.

Northminster Presbyterian

The sacrament of baptism will be administered to 11 infants at the 9 a.m. service Sunday at Northminster Presbyterian Church, Diamond Bar. Dr. Richard Engdahl will preach on "The Beautiful Mystery of Christmas" at both the 9 and 10:30 a.m. services.

The traditional family service will be held 7:30 p.m. Sunday with singing of carols and the reading of the Christmas story from Luke.

The 11 p.m. candlelight service will include communion and a cantata. "The Christmas Story" Engdahl will speak on "A Far Journey." A candle procession and the singing of "Silent Night" will conclude the service. The church is located at 400 S. Rancheria, Diamond Bar.

Our Lady of Lourdes

Our Lady of Lourdes parish, Montclair will celebrate the fourth Sunday of Advent with vigil masses 5 and 7:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday masses at 8, 9:30 and 11 a.m. and 12:15, and 7:30 p.m.

The first mass of Christmas will be held 9:30 p.m. Sunday with carol singing by CCD students and Priscilla Hernandez and Matthew Simpson taking the parts of Mary and Joseph for Las Posadas.

A solemn mass will be celebrated at midnight by the Rev. Lawrence Battle. Ed Kuskick will lead the choir, with Lilaine Tuma playing the organ.

Christmas Day masses include 7, 8, 9:30 and 11 a.m. and 12:15 and 7:30 p.m.

Charter church member to receive work of art

Each family joining Shepherd of the Hills, Rancho Cucamonga, as charter members on Dec. 31, will receive a personally autographed and numbered copy of an original work of art by Gerald F. Brommer, internationally known artist and author.

The limited edition, silk screen work was specially commissioned for this event by a friend of the artist, the Rev. E. D. Thyrt, pastor of Shepherd of the Hills Church, and is logically called, "The Shepherd of the Hills."

Shepherd of the Hills, one of the newest churches in Rancho Cucamonga, is also one of the most rapidly growing in the area. Comprising only ten families just a few months ago, the church will soon be adding a second service on Sunday morning to accommodate the many people anticipated in light of current growth patterns. Worship services are now being conducted every Sunday morning at 9 a.m. in the Forum building of Chaffey College. Chaffey is located on Haven Avenue, east of Archibald Avenue and north of 19th Street. Signs on the campus will direct you to Forum 7 where services are conducted.

Preliminary plans for building on the site at the intersection of Haven and Banyon are now under way and a beautiful five-acre church campus is planned in the near future.
